Hi Rhonda,

I would say yes that you can use the education code based on the following:

The college is appropriately accredited & units show as semester units (converted on transcript)

Social Science authorizations include courses in sociology, history, psychology etc. so I would use the following:

ED 6010- 3 units Psychological Apps

ED 5470- 3 units Multicultural Instruction

SOS 101- 3.33 units Historical Perspectives on Culture

SOS 102- 3.33 units Historical Perspectives/Culture & Civilization

PSY 201- 3.33 units General Psychology

PSY 3490- 1 unit Personal Development

CHH 3110- 3 units History of the Christian Church

Be sure to keep a copy of your justification for the ed code in his file, have him sign a consent form and get it board approved.

Hi Shannon,

I am sure that you are quite busy and I hate to ask for your help but I have to get this teacher assignment completed before school starts and I am a little confused with his transcripts.

Alternatives

1. A Limited Assignment Teaching Permit, pursuant to Title 5, California Code of Regulations, Section 80027, authorizes the holder of a valid teaching credential based on a baccalaureate degree and completion of a professional preparation program to teach outside of his or her credential area if both the teacher and governing school board consent to the assignment. For renewal, the teacher must complete at least 6 semester units of appropriate coursework. The document is valid for one year and may be renewed twice.

2. EC 44263 – The governing board of a school district, pursuant to California Education Code, Section 44263, may allow a teacher who holds a credential based on a baccalaureate degree and completion of a professional teacher program to be assigned to teach any single subject class if the teacher consents to the assignment and has completed 18 semester units or 9 upper-division semester units of coursework in the subject to be taught. To teach a Multiple Subject class, the teacher needs to consent to the assignment and have at least 60 semester units equally distributed among four of the following areas:

history	literature	science
humanities	mathematics	social science
human development	physical education	the arts
language studies

3. EC 44256(b) – The governing board of a school district, pursuant to California Education Code, Section 44256(b) may allow a teacher who holds a Multiple Subject or Standard Elementary teaching credential to be assigned to teach any single subject class below grade 9 if the teacher consents to the assignment and has completed 12 semester units or 6 upper-division semester units of coursework in each subject to be taught.

4. EC 44258.2 – The governing board of a school district, pursuant to California Education Code, Section 44258.2, may allow a teacher who holds a Single Subject or Standard Secondary teaching credential to be assigned to teach any single subject class in grades 5-8 if the teacher consents to the assignment and has completed 12 semester units or 6 upper-division semester units of coursework in each subject to be taught.

5. EC 44258.3 – The governing board of a school district, pursuant to California Education Code, Section 44258.3, may assign the holder of a credential, other than an emergency permit, to teach any subject in departmentalized classes in grades K-12, if the teacher's competence is verified according to the policy established by the governing board.

6. EC 44258.7(c) and (d) – The governing board of a school district, pursuant to California Education Code, Section (c) and (d), may assign full-time teachers with special skills and preparation outside of their credential area to teach in an "elective" area of the special skills, provided the assignment is approved by the local Committee on Assignments and the teacher consents to the assignment. Elective subjects are subjects other than English, mathematics, science, and social science.

7. Title 5 §80005(b) – Elective classes – In most cases there is an obvious match between the class curriculum and the authorizations listed on the credential. However there will be classes, usually electives, for which there are no match. These include, but are not limited to, classes in life skills, leadership, study skills, conflict management, teen skills, and study hall. Classes such as art, music, foreign language, and computers may be considered as electives by some school districts (but there are credentials for these subjects). If a credential exists which authorizes service in the subject area, the teacher must hold a credential or authorization in the subject area. The "elective" credit given to the class does not make a difference in the determination of which credential is required. Other classes such as leadership are strictly electives in some schools while in others the students receive specific graduation credit.

If no credential exists that authorizes the curriculum and elective credit is being given, the employing agency should select the credentialed teacher whose knowledge and training best fulfills the needs of the students. In such assignments, the teacher's consent is required. Title 5 §80005(b) allows an employing agency to select an individual that holds a credential based on a bachelor's degree and a teacher preparation program including student teaching and approved subject area knowledge and training.

8. EC 44831 – Speech and Language Services – Governing boards of school districts shall employ persons in public school service requiring certification qualifications as provided in this code, except that the governing board or a county office of education may contract with or employ an individual who holds a license issued by the Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology Board and has earned a master's degree in communication disorders to provide speech and language services if that individual meets the requirements of Sections 44332.6 and 44830 (criminal record summary) before employment or execution of a contract.
